We all want to make others proud of us, but navigating pressures from family members, cultural expectations, and societal norms can wear us down. When this happens, it’s important that we build ourselves back up. Self-affirmations remind us of our worth, defend against stress, and can help us weather difficult circumstances.

Self-affirmations should be authentic to you and your beliefs. Think of some statements you can use to remind yourself of your strengths and abilities, as well as what you are grateful for or working toward. Focus on these statements regularly – such as every morning or before bed – but especially when you need to ground yourself or shift your mindset. (You can also use the examples below as inspiration if you’re not sure where to start.)

- I am enough and am loved by friends and family.
- I believe in myself and will reach my goals.
- I have come so far already and will keep improving myself each day.
- My life is full of potential, and I am grateful for the opportunities in front of me.
I AM ENOUGH
I HAVE THE RIGHT TO FOLLOW MY DREAMS
I AM HOPEFUL
I AM COURAGEOUS
I AM PURPOSEFUL
I AM LOVED
I AM LOVE

Youth Suicide Warning Signs

Talk to a trusted adult or reach out to someone you are concerned about if you observe one or more of these warning signs, especially if the behavior is new, has increased or seems related to a painful event, loss or change.

1. Talking about or making plans for suicide
2. Expressing hopelessness about the future
3. Displaying severe/overwhelming emotional pain or distress
4. Showing worrisome behavioral cues or changes in behavior, such as:
   - Withdrawal from or changing in social connections/situations
   - Changes in sleep (increased or decreased)
   - Anger or hostility that seems out of character or out of context
   - Recent increased agitation or irritability

If you are concerned about someone, reach out and ask: "Are you thinking about suicide?"

Whatever you're going through, you're not alone. If you're in pain or concerned for someone else, call or text 988, or chat 988lifeline.org to reach the Suicide & Crisis Line (24/7). You can also visit suicideispreventable.org for more information.

The Directing Change Program holds film and art contests for young people in California to learn about the topics of suicide prevention and mental health. By creating short films or art projects, you can learn about suicide prevention, mental health, social justice, and other health topics; share what you’ve learned with others; and communicate positive messages to peers and adults in your community that will inspire them to take action.
